- Launch the software “Biomedis M Air”! To do it, click the icon “Start”, select “Biomedis M Air” on the list of the programs, clicking the right mouse button, select “run as administrator”! So, the program window will appear.

4. Work with program

4.1 Definitions and program's interface

Profile is user's name. Several persons may use the software. The profile contains all individual complexes of the selected user.

Complex is consecutive set of programs.

Program is consecutive set of frequencies. The software contains list of programs (base of program) which can't be changed.

Left side of interface: window "Base of programs" is list of programs which may be classified, depending on categories, and search for names; window "Information about program" reflects frequencies included in the selected program.

Right side of interface: indicator of turning on the device, list of profiles, list of complexes included in the selected profile, list of programs included in the selected complex. Window "Time for frequency" allows changing duration of impact exercised by one frequency, thus, changing duration of program and complex.
